What is Outplacement?

Handover HR and R Outplacement services assist employees in transitioning out of an organisation and into new roles, typically due to layoffs or downsizing. This transition is made seamless through career coaching, resume writing, interview preparation, and job search support, empowering individuals to navigate their career changes effectively.

Who is it for?

Handover HR and R's Outplacement services are designed for individuals facing career transitions due to redundancy or being laid off. We cater to individuals at every stage of their careers, from entry-level to executive positions, providing personalised support to help them secure new opportunities.

Employers are also able to engage in our Outplacement services to ensure that their departing employees are treated with respect and care. This assists in ensuring that their own company image remains positive, and reduces the risk of legal issues.
